

BRITISH LASHING OUT FIERCELY IN LIBYA

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Seeing is believing . . . so they say . . . and I have seen and so believe . . . but unfortunately for you, the evidence in support of this fabulous tale was far too sweet to keep . . . it has been eaten . . . Oh, those great big red strawberries . . .

Mrs. Frank Hays brought a box of them into the Record-Herald office . . . she was so proud of them . . . and well she might be . . . but she generously passed the credit on to her husband . . . Frank just lives with them," she said.

From three rows of plants about 20 feet long in the garden back of their home on Temple Street, they have picked 35 boxes already this season . . . and they'll get about that many more before the end that inevitably comes to all good things . . . they are not commercial about the strawberries . . . they don't sell them . . . just eat them three times a day during the month they are there . . . and give them to their friends.

But, such strawberries, I have never seen . . . a dozen of them filled the box . . . not level but heaping . . . one measured nearly three inches across . . . deep, dark red and luscious . . . they are so big, you eat them as you would eat an apple . . . and so sweet you wouldn't have to worry about your rationed sugar.

They're no trouble to grow . . . because the labor of love could not be trouble . . . but they do take some care . . . the weeds are kept out and they are given a straw blanket through the winter.

Harlan Dresbach, of Hallsville, who is president of the Ross County Board of Education, has a million dollars worth of scenery which one can enjoy from the lawn of his beautiful home on an eminence just south of Hallsville village in north-eastern Ross County.

A few days ago we spent a few hours at the Dresbach home, enjoying a visit with the two fine people who are widely known in both Ross and Pickaway counties, and who are good friends of years standing.

From the front lawn one may feast upon a wide expanse of the lovely, rolling countryside of Colerain Township, and lift one's eyes to the wooded hills of Hocking County in the distance.

In the broad expanse are rich farming regions, valleys and small hills, restful woodlands, thousands of acres of waving wheat fields, pasture lands, corn fields, attractive farm homes, miles of ribbon highways, herds of sleek cattle and horses grazing peacefully in knee deep clover, with misty, mysterious hills rimming the horizon. It is one of the most restful and soul-satisfying places in all Ohio.

Harl and his wife realize the wondrous location of their attractive home, and would not part with it at any price.

Speaking of coincidences, how about this one:
Fire Chief George Hall, leading exponent of preparedness in case of air raid, was in Good Hope Tuesday night, showing three moving pictures on air raids and first aid.

George had just finished showing the First Aid picture before the Grange and as the crowd was leaving Mrs. Russell McCoy became dizzy on the stairway and fell down the stairs.

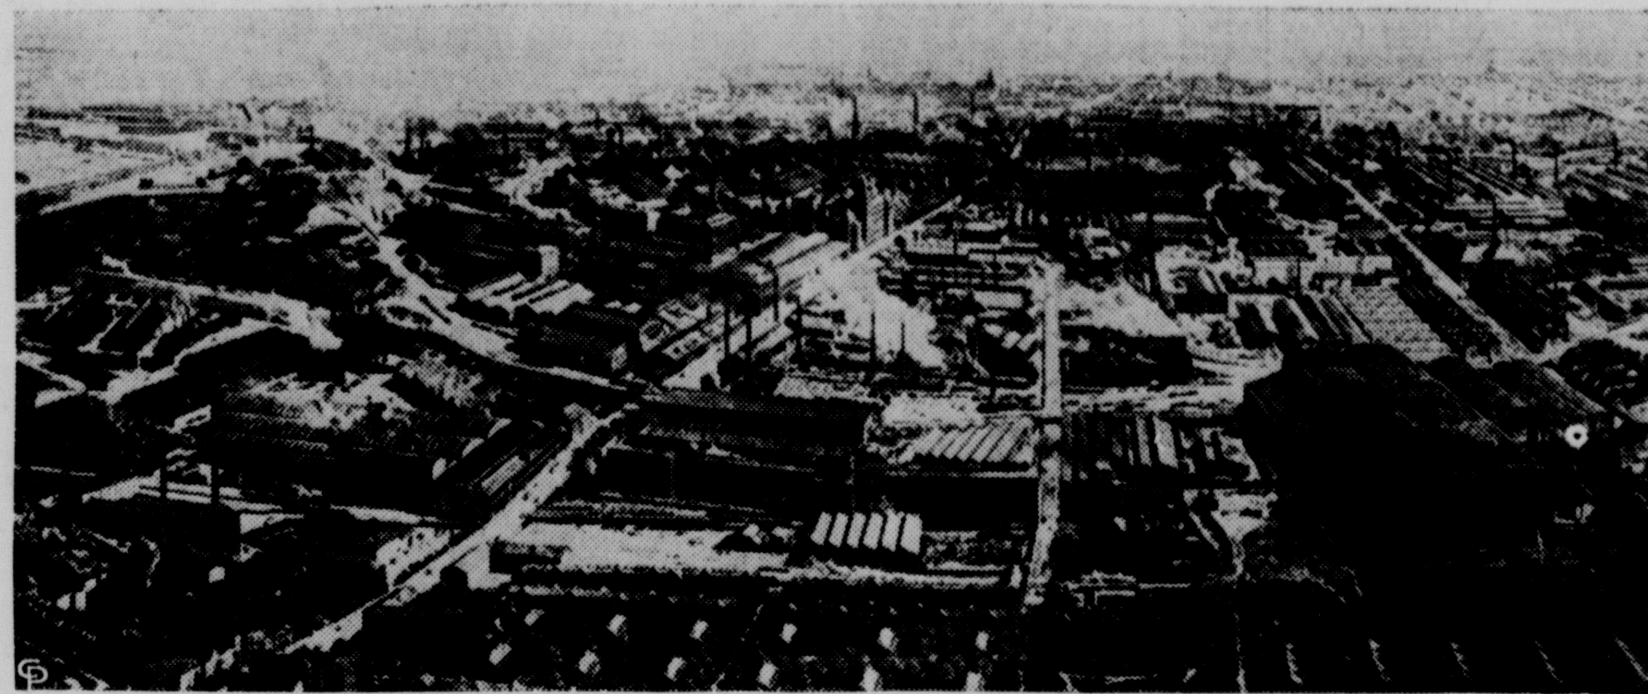

George immediately put his knowledge of first aid into use and rendered assistance to Mrs. McCoy who sustained severe contusions and other painful injuries, but was not seriously hurt.

That huge amount of traffic Saturday and Sunday appeared to be a last fling that auto owners were taking in anticipation of gasoline rationing as a means of conserving rubber.

To all appearance very few cars were appearing much heed to conservation of rubber during the double holiday. Not only were autos on the road in great numbers, but a surprisingly large number of drivers were traveling 60 miles and better per hour.

RAF Blasts Nazi War Factories Again

View of Krupp works in Essen, Germany

Almost duplicating their tremendous assault on Cologne, more than 1,000 R. A. F. planes roared up the Ruhr valley and attacked Essen, Germany, presumably concentrating their bombs on the great Krupp works. The sprawling plants that were turning out munitions for the Axis are pictured above. Damage to the city was believed equal to that inflicted on Cologne.

Air Armada Roars Over Ruhr Valley To Rain Destruction on Krupp Munitions Works at Essen — Raid Not As Heavy as Previous Night, However

LONDON, June 3—(P)—Strong British air squadrons blasted again at the munitions center of Essen last night, mopping up areas which escaped destruction in the 1,036-plane raid Monday night, and striking at other objectives in the Ruhr Valley, authorities said today.

While it was emphasized that the RAF struck in force, an authoritative statement said "the scale of operation was not comparable with that of the previous night."

"A good deal of smoke and ground haze made observation difficult, but the weather was good and the results are believed to be satisfactory," the statement said.

With daylight, the British round-the-clock air assault continued and RAF fighters and bombers swarmed across the Dover Strait toward German-occupied territory.

The air ministry news service said night fighters and bombers, which have run interference for the new-scale British night forays, again took up the offensive last night with raids on airbases, factories, railway lines and army hits from Holland to Brittany.

The ministry's communique said that besides "large fires" left burning in Essen, German docks were bombed at Dieppe and mines were laid in enemy waters.

Fourteen bombers were reported missing. This compared with 35 which failed to return from the Essen raid Monday night and 44 lost Sunday night in the Cologne attack.

(By a comparative scale, this would indicate about 400 bombers

Britain's desert armies lashed out on the offensive with a 30-mile thrust against the Axis in North Africa today while RAF bombers, perhaps 400 strong, battered the great German war foundries city of Essen for the second time in 24 hours.

Fires and smoke still shrouded Essen after Monday night's 1,036-plane assault on the Nazi arsenal, home of the big Krupp Armaments Works, but the British declared the results "are believed to be satisfactory."

Britain's thousand-plane bombings of Germany this week have aroused unprecedented enthusiasm in Soviet Russia for the feats of her ally.

FRENCH AID BRITISH
LONDON, June 3—(P)—General Charles De Gaulle's Free French headquarters announced today that detachments of the French Foreign Legion stationed at Bir Hacheim in the Libyan Desert had made a night raid on the Axis war prison camp and released about 600 men of the third Indian motor brigade.

"The Soviet people together with the freedom-loving peoples of the world welcome with a feeling of deep satisfaction the successes of the British air force in the great aerial operations it has started," said Red Star, newspaper of the Russian Army.

An RAF commentator declared today that air raids on Germany "will get bigger" and asserted that a total of 30,000 planes bombing Germany each month was "not a fantastic figure."

He said the objectives of the terrific raids on Cologne and the Ruhr had been "substantially secured."

"We will repeat the dose and the dose will get bigger," he added.

DAYTON, June 3—(P)—At least six persons were injured in a storm that struck the Miami Valley last night.

Lightning shattered a cornice on the Dayton Daily News Building. Wilmington experienced two brief periods of darkness because of damaged power service facilities.

Hit by debris at the E. V. Steel home near Troy, Mrs. Cu-bert Bush, 29, of Cable, suffered a leg fracture.

Lightning knocked Herman Carver, 27, unconscious at Mid-dletown, but his condition was termed as not serious. A bolt stunned four civilian employees at the Army's Wright Field near here.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, June 3—(P)—Enthusiastic American airmen, hailing Britain's massive bombing attacks on Germany as a demonstration of the true meaning of aerial warfare, predicted today that the growing might of British-American air forces could reduce the Nazis to virtual military impotence without the opening of a second front on the continent.

The flaming devastation dropped on Cologne and Essen, these experts said, were only the preliminary to a campaign of strategic bombing which would cripple the German war machine without the aid of land assaults.

Military men with more traditional concepts of warfare did not go nearly so far in their appraisal of results, although they agreed that attainment of some

From Wartime Demands

COLUMBUS, June 3—(P)—Priorities sent revenues from Ohio's three-per cent sales tax reeling downward during the week ended May 23 as income dropped $268,668 from the same period last year and two classifications—furniture and building—showed initial declines.

Only three of eight groups reported increases, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright announced today. They were food, which moved up from $99,672 during the week last year to $113,250 this year, and general and miscellaneous sales which showed a combined increase of approximately $23,000.

Furniture, previously ahead of last year, dropped $9,351 to $76,949, and building after holding a substantial lead earlier fell off $8,093 to $79,775.

The automotive classification still led in declines, dropping from $356,332 to $99,892; chain stores fell from $348,436 to $314,835 and apparel from $76,821 to $74,823.

COUNTY SALES SHOW BIG GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

One of Few Counties Which Show Gain for Week Ending May 23

Fayette County is one of the few counties showing gains in sales of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending May 23, compared with sales for the same week last year.

Sales in this county reached $2,558.80 compared with $2,478.48 for the same week last year when automobile sales, tires, etc. were being sold without restriction.

In Ross County during the same week, total sales were $3,815.38 compared with $5,581.96 during the same period last year. Greene County had $3,586.07 for the week and $5,106.31 last year.

In the state as a whole, priorities dug sharply into revenues derived from the sale of prepaid tax receipts during the week, ringing up a net loss of $268,668.15 as compared with the similar week of 1941, Treasurer of State Don H. Ebright reported today.

Of the total of eight classifications five showed appreciable declines with the automotive group still leading the way down the financial scale.

The three classes which retained marginal leads were food, which moved upward from $99,672.41 to $113,250.31; general, up from $116,016.75 to $119,129.57; and miscellaneous, up from $162,325.34 to $182,265.27.

In the apparel class a drop of approximately $2,000.00 was shown, dropping from $76,821.04 to $74,823.16; automotive slumped from $356,332.66 to $99,892.29. The furniture class, which heretofore has ranged ahead of last year, dropped from $86,199.48 to $76,848.11; while the building group, which also held a substantial lead, fell off from $87,870.10 to $79,775.37; while the chain store class slid from $348,436.21 to $314,835.66, Treasurer of State Ebright's report showed.

Gross sales to date this year amount to $21,449,491.57 as compared with $23,171,556.57 during last year.

sive, had driven through a swirling sandstorm to capture an Axis strong point 30 miles west of the main British positions.

The captured point was Rotunda Segnali, a key Axis supply base, 44 miles west of the former main battle sector at Knightsbridge.

The British command acknowledged that Axis forces had succeeded in "occupying an area between gaps in our minefield." But it was not immediately clear whether this had any major significance. Rommel was said to be using the gaps for escape hatches.

Premier Mussolini's high command said more than 3,000 British prisoners had been captured in the El Ualeb fighting zone, 40 miles southwest of Tobruk, just behind the gaps.

Fighting in Russia

On the Russian battlefield, Hitler's headquarters reported that violent fighting had broken out in the swampy region of Volkovo, 80 miles southeast of Leningrad. No details were given.

Volkovo lies on the main Leningrad-Moscow railway line. The Nazi high command also asserted that Red Army forces encircled on the central front, west of Moscow, had been crushed.

MORE BUSES IN SERVICE HERE DUE TO DEMAND

Patronage Is Multiplying Rapidly Due to the Tire Shortage

While bus service has been reduced in some areas, recent heavy increase in patronage has made it necessary to add several additional buses between Cincinnati, Washington C. H., Columbus and Cleveland.

Even with the additional service it was found impossible to meet the demand over Sunday, and many persons were compelled to wait for later buses than the one on which they expected to travel, or obtain other means of transportation.

At one of the terminals the demand for seats was so heavy that the ticket office was closed and no more tickets were sold for the day.

Already bus officials are coping with a problem that may get beyond handling almost any time, as demand for public transportation grows—and it will grow apace is the belief expressed.

Within a short time it is expected bus travel will overflow to a point where heavy patronage of railroads will necessitate additional passenger train service between such points as Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and intermediate points.

ed with more than 1,500 killed and 2,000 prisoners.

On the southern front, both sides were apparently still resting after the bloody, indecisive battle of Kharkov.

Elsewhere on the long front, Soviet dispatches reported that 950 Germans had been killed and that Ukraine guerrillas had slain more than 300 invaders in an attack on a Rumanian troop train.

The Moscow News, praising United States-built fighter planes in the spring fighting, declared a Tomahawk squadron around Leningrad had shot down 50 German planes.

Rains Slow Japs

Chinese dispatches reported today that Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek's armies had cut a triangular chunk from the flank of the Japanese lines Chekiang Province with the recapture of Yangki, 45 miles northwest of Kinwa, and said heavy rains were bogging the Japanese invasion of China's east coast.

Serious difficulties still confronted the Chinese in lower Chekiang, however, as Japanese columns battled the defenders only 12 miles northeast of the important city of Chuhsien, 45 miles southwest of Kinwa, the Japanese-occupied provincial capital.

While Chiang's armies struggled to stem the offensive, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament in London that Britain and the United States were sending China all lease-lend war materials "which it is possible to supply" amid "other urgent requirements and the difficulties of transport."

The United States yesterday signed an agreement bringing China into the lease-lend blot of allies on virtually the same basis as Britain.

No fighting was mentioned in the announcement, but air activity was said to have increased on both sides.

Australia — General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that Allied bombers had inflicted heavy new blows on Japanese barracks and other targets on enemy-held "invasion" bases north of Australia.

A communique said United Nations airmen set huge fires at Tulagi, deep in the Solomon Islands off Australia's northeast coast, and also attacked Rabaul, in New Britain, and Atamboea, Timor Island.

Burma — American "Flying Tiger" volunteers were officially credited with destroying 28 to 32 Japanese planes and making 12 major attacks with a loss of only six planes during May.

Dispatches said the AVG's bombing and strafing of Japanese troops attempting to cross the Salween River had given the Chinese time to establish proper defense lines to block Japanese spearheads jabbing into China's far southwest Yunnan Province from Burma.

COLORED MAN IS BEING SOUGHT

Steals Radios and Other Property from Two Farm Homes

Officers of both Fayette and Ross counties are seeking a Negro aged about 25 years, for theft of a radio in Fayette County, near the Ross County line, and theft of a suit of clothes, money and other property from a home in Ross County.

The burglaries took place late Tuesday afternoon, while residents of the burglarized homes were absent.

The first burglary was at the Minta Rowland home, on Route 35 (Chillicothe road) when the Negro entered the house by forcing a cellar window, and stole a radio. He also ransacked the house generally, apparently in search of money or jewelry.

He next went to a house along the road in Ross County, near Austin, and obtained a second radio, clothing, $1 in money and other property. A window was forced in the latter place.

Word of the theft was telephoned to this city and Deputy

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 3—The U. S. Golf Association, which drew a lot of criticism for its hasty cancellation of the open and amateur championships, seems to be making a great comeback with the Hale America Open tournament. The sectional qualifying opening rounds this week end will take in virtually all the top-ranking pros and amateurs available and the ones who don't have to qualify will play exhibitions anyway. About the only important names we can think of that will be missing are Sam Snead, Porky Oliver, P. G. Ward, Willie Turnesa, Charlie Yates and Johnny Fisher, who will be too busy with their army and navy duties. Corp. Jim Turensa, the army's No. 1 golfer right now, tells why his putting was so hot during the P. G. A. tournament—because he didn't have much chance to practice anything else.

Last Straw
When Jack Dunn, 3rd, who is a pretty good college ball player besides being traveling secretary of the Baltimore Orioles, was playing for Princeton against the soldier team at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., the other day, he fouled one into the stands. The spectator who got the ball hesitated about throwing it back, and a soldier shouted from the field: "Please return all balls, and we will give them to the Phils." The fan tossed it back.

Basketball Player,

BORGER, Tex.—(AP)—Price Brookfield, 6 foot 4 1/2 inch star of West Texas State, who claimed to be the tallest basketball team on earth, turned professional—but not in the basketball field.

He pitched for Borger in the West-Texas-New Mexico baseball league, holding Amarillo to seven hits in a seven-inning game. He got five hits, himself. But Brookfield's pitching skill probably wasn't needed. His teammates batted out 26 hits in a 22-5 victory.

Sectional Battle for Hale America To Be Staged on Cincinnati Course

CINCINNATI, June 3—(AP)—Seventy-three golfers from five states—43 of them from Ohio—are entered in the Hale America Open golf tournament sectional at Kenwood Country Club here Saturday and Sunday.

Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, and part of Pennsylvania have entrants among the 38 professionals and 35 amateurs who will tee-off Saturday afternoon in an 18-hole round to be followed by 36 holes of medal play Sunday.

Eight will qualify here for the national Hale America tournament at Chicago June 23, while in a dozen other sectionals throughout the country more than 500 survivors of local tournaments last week will seek places among the 105 starters in the Chicago final.

In the absence of the national open championship, the Hale America tournament for the benefit of the navy relief society is shaping up as golfing's biggest event of the year. Byron Nelson of Toledo, former national open champion and exempt from sectional qualifying, will be on hand here for exhibition rounds.

Ohio entrants included in pairings made yesterday were: Cleveland—Theodore L. Hoge, Tom Whiteway of Wickliffe, Billy Burke and John Malutic of Bedford.

Akron—Ed S. Leroy and Herman Keiser.

Reds Beaten By Phils in Pitching Duel

CINCINNATI, June 3—(AP)—Cincinnati must trim Philadelphia tonight for an even break in a two-game series with the last placers—all because of Si Johnson whitewashed the Reds, legs yesterday.

Johnson allowed his former Redtag teammates only five hits in 10 innings in beating Elmer Riddle, 1-0. Max Marshall was the only Redleg to reach second, making it on a single and sacrifice in the ninth, but then Joe Abreu hit into a double play.

Rookie Abreu, substituting at third for Bert Haas who took injured Frank McCormick's place at first, was the "goat in a heart-breaking loss for Riddle. Abreu fumbled Albin Glossop's sacrifice after Danny Litwhiler opened the tenth by beating out a hit to deep short. Litwhiler advanced on Riddle's Northey's single off Lonnie Frey's glove, held third while Bobby Bragan popped, then scored on Tommy Livingston's fly.

Riddle, like Johnson, turned in a five-hit job for his best performance of the year.

Paul Derringer for the Reds and Rube Melton for the Phils are tonight's probable pitchers.

TENTH BEATING IN ROW HANDED TO POOR PIRATES

Old Si Johnson Turns in One of Days Most Sparkling Pitching Performances

By JUDSON BAILEY (By The Associated Press)

If there are ever times that Frank (Onkel Franz) Frisch yearns to return to radio announcing today must be one of them.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who started the season in splendor, have become more futile and pathetic than even the Philadelphia Phils, who haven't been out of the National League cellar since the first day of the campaign.

Pittsburgh has lost ten straight games and 16 of its last 18 and was humiliated yesterday by the worst thrashing of the season in the senior circuit—17 to 2 by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookie Les Weber made it more humiliating than ever, giving Pittsburgh only five hits. Pete Reiser got five hits in five trips for the Dodgers.

There were two other five-hit pitching performances in the National League yesterday—thrown against each other by old Si Johnson and young Elmer Riddle in a 10-inning duel which the Phils took from the Cincinnati Reds 1-0.

Hal Schumacher, who hadn't won a game since April 23, kept nine hits scattered at Chicago and the New York Giants beat the Cubs 5-1.

John Beazley, young relief hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals, did a spectacular job to save a 4 to 3 decision over the Boston Braves for Mort Cooper. Cooper weakened in the ninth and permitted Sibby Sisti to triple a pair of runs home with only one out. Beazley trudged in from the bullpen to retire the side.

Mel Harder stepped into the breach for the Cleveland Indians at Boston by holding the Red Soxers to six hits and winning 7-2. The tribe has been in a sticky slump, losing nine of their last 11 games.

Two great pitching performances were turned in under the lights with Early Wynn, the Washington youngster, stopping the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1, and Virgil (Fire) Trucks of the Tigers applying the first coat of whitewash to the Athletics this season, 3 to 0.

Record Crowd At Milwaukee Night Game

(By the Associated Press)

Milwaukee turned on the lights in its American Association park for the first time in 1942 last night and the turnstiles tallied a turnout of 9,267, which the Brewers said was the largest for any night game in the circuit this year. They saw Harry Griswold, reserve catcher snap out of a batting slump to clout two singles and a home run in leading the league-leaders to a 7-3 win over Columbus.

Kansas City beat Toledo twice, 2-1 and 3-0, to gain a half game on first-place Milwaukee. Rugger Ardizola pitched a one-hitter in the nightcap. Minneapolis and Louisville divided last night's twilight doubleheader, Louisville winning the first, 5-4, and the Millers the second by the same score.

Way down in the cellar, Indianapolis took a double-header from St. Paul, 3-1 and 4-3.

ARMY PLANS
Last January, an official announcement said that the United States army would reach a total of 3,600,000 men by the end of 1942. This figure has since been increased. Some commentators have forecast that in time the Army might total nine or ten million. The best available information seems to indicate that a total of at least 6,000,000 will be attained.

That is obviously going to have a revolutionary effect on the manpower of this country. However, there is no factual evidence to support the scare rumors which say that every physically fit man under 36 is certain to be placed in uniform. Selective Service heads are making a genuine effort to create an army of the size needed with minimum dislocation of American family life.

Here is how matters shape up at this time, according to published statements: First, practically all available single men in the 20-35-year bracket have been called. Many who were given temporary deferment for occupational reasons are now being summoned. In time, women and older men will replace thousands of young men in defense industries.

Second, the Selective Service Boards are placing in the 1-A classification all men who have no genuine claim for dependency. That includes men with working wives, men who contribute little to the support of their household, and men with means. Almost all of these men will be in uniform by the end of the year, unless they are unable to pass the physical examinations or perform vital work in war industry.

Third, it is universally believed that Congress will soon approve a bill providing government grants to dependents of service men. These grants, as now projected, are small—around $50 a month for a wife and child. But they will make it possible for the Selective Service Boards to call thousands of men who are now deferred for economic reasons.

Fourth, a new draft classification, 3-B, has been adopted. And that is a matter of very great importance. At the present time, men with genuine dependencies are classified as 3-A. The 3-B classification is for men with genuine dependencies who, in addition, are employed in war work. The hope is that thousands of men who now have non-war jobs will shift to war jobs in order to obtain the 3-B deferment. Some observers say that eventually the Selective Service Boards will operate on the "work or fight" policy which existed in World War I. In other words, a man will be given the choice of going into the Army, or leaving a non-war occupation for a war occupation.

The industries which are classified as essential to the war effort are definitely limited in number. Lawyers, store clerks, newspapermen, wholesalers, advertising men, etc., have no claim for deferment. Deferment is given only to men who hold a job which is directly and absolutely necessary to the production and transportation of the raw and finished materials which are involved in war.

What this all adds up to is plain. If you are a single man, under 36, in reasonable health, you will go into the army unless you are virtually irreplaceable in some war industry. If you have dependents who look to you entirely for support, you will be deferred for the time being—but there is a strong likelihood that in time the continuance of your deferment will depend upon your obtaining a job in war industry. If you have minor physical defects, you are not exempt from military service. The original physical standards have been relaxed, and men with defective eyesight, hearing, feet, etc., are being called to the colors and assigned to non-combatant duty.

Many a problem remains to be worked out. An army of 6,000,000 men would mean that four to six times that number would be needed in industries manufacturing and transporting supplies. On top of that, agriculture must be kept going, and on an expanding scale, inasmuch as we are sending tremendous quantities of foodstuffs to our Allies. Selective Service heads, such as General Hershey, have

Cavalry Candidate Joins the Air Corps
MANCHESTER, Tenn.—(P)—There's an old saying, "If mules could fly..." Well, this one did pretty well at it. On a balmy day Will H. Haggard turned his mules, confined to their stables most of the winter, out to pasture to get the kinks out of their legs; and one young animal was missing at feeding time. The mule evidently underestimated its jumping ability—Haggard found it perched in the crotch of a tree, unable to get down. He had to chop it free.

Today's Horoscope
Today's birthday child has unusual talent, but should develop the urge and determination necessary to accomplish great things. He or she is too cautious, too lackadaisical. The emotions are deep and often take this person to the extremes of joy or despair. Some of his or her ambitions will be realized in the next year, and social and love affairs will prosper. A business matter, however, may cause concern through a misunderstanding or misrepresentation. Born on this date a child will early achieve recognition and success, and be good-natured, humane, refined, highly intellectual and intuitive, but will need to be cautious in money matters and correspondence.

advised the Boards to exempt enough farm labor to keep food production up to the necessary level. But, reports say, in some areas the draft is virtually denuding the farms of labor. Furthermore, farmers cannot pay the high wages paid by war industry, and workers are naturally taking jobs in war factories instead of on farms. This seems to be one of the most serious of the unsolved problems.

It is probable that the immediate course of the war will have a direct bearing on army expansion plans here. If, for instance, Russia continues to hold the Germans, and Japan is stopped in the Pacific, a U. S. army of the largest size possible will not be necessary. If, on the other hand, Germany manages to crack the Russian defense this summer, and if Japan continues to win victories, you can look with assurance to Army expansion on a tremendously accelerated scale.

It is reported that men between 35 and 44, which was the second group registered, will, as a general rule, be taken only for behind-the-lines Army service. It is expected that the greater proportion of this group will go in war industry. No plans have been made for the 45-65 group of registrants.

MORE THAN A GESTURE

A declaration of war by Mexico against Germany is no mere gesture. Although her army now numbers only around 75,000 men, whose training appears to the observer inferior to that of our pre-war national guard outfits and whose equipment is scanty, the southerly neighbor can be extremely helpful.

The zone of belligerency against Hitler would be made unbroken from the North Pole to and through the vital Panama Canal, including the islands of the Caribbean. Thus there would remain no haven for Axis spies, saboteurs and propagandists; increased control could be exercised over spots physically suitable for secret Axis flying fields.

MORE NURSES NEEDED

The Red Cross is faced with the task of finding about a thousand nurses a month, for the rest of this year, for the army and navy.

The rapid expansion of our armed forces, and their movement into the fighting zones, make it certain that a tremendous expansion of the nursing service will be required. If this is to be orderly, with the minimum of upset to civilian institutions, it must be planned now. The Red Cross must learn upon whom our soldiers and sailors can count

Teeth of the Expectant Mother Require Care

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"FOR EVERY baby, a tooth" has long been a byword among the old wives of the household, but according to Dr. O. Lee Schattenburg, it is no longer true. Dr. Schattenburg is associate director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health where nearly 200 obstetrical and pediatric clinics have achieved remarkable results in lowering maternal and child death rates in the last decade.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It is also an unfounded idea that to prevent miscarriage an expectant mother must avoid the dentist's chair. Not only should the mother have good care from the onset of pregnancy for her own sake, but also for the sake of guarding the child against dental defects.

In order to offer the child protection against dental defects, he must begin early in pregnancy because it has been demonstrated that, under unfavorable circumstances, a child may have considerable dental defects at birth, even six months before the teeth are due to erupt.

Pre-Natal Tests
At the present time, of course, it is a universal practice to give a mother what is called pre-natal care, which means that she is examined regularly. Her general health is assessed and the integrity of every organ and every function of her body is severely tested. Modern knowledge of nutrition will help to guard not only her own health, but insure a healthy and functionally perfect child.

The regimen for safeguarding the teeth of the mother and child consists of adherence to an adequate diet, including calcium and iron and a sufficiency of vitamins A, C, and D. The only truth in the old adage that "for every child a tooth" lies in the fact that in supplying calcium for the bones of the growing child, this calcium might be taken away from the mother's teeth. If she gets an adequate supply in her own diet, no such danger will exist.

Care of the Teeth
Another thing that is taken care of during this period is dental infection. This is very important, not only in preserving the teeth themselves, but in avoiding a number of obstetrical complications.

Modern obstetricians accept dental sepsis as being frequently the background of several important complications and they feel that they should insist on the elimination of dental sepsis early in pregnancy. Among these complications are infection of the pelvis of the kidney, phlebitis (inflammation of the veins).

The question of painless child birth is wrapped up with the question of painless dentistry, neither of which has an entirely satisfactory solution at the present time. Envisioning a new type of painless dentistry based on electrical energy rather than drugs, Dr. Schattenburg has said: "Is it possible that if the cyclotron can break up the atom and give us radio-active substances, other forms of electrical energy can be used to block a nerve?" The X-ray can help us to visualize the tooth structure, why can't X-ray help us to block out its pain perception?"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
L. W.—"What effects do sulfonamide drugs have on the health when taken over a long period of time? Would this lead to high blood pressure?"

Answer: Sulfonamide drugs are potentially very toxic and should in no circumstances be taken over a long period of time, even in small doses. They lead to skin eruptions, liver damage and have a general effect on the nutrition and health, but I do not know that they have any effect on blood pressure.

CHAPTER FORTY
Dr. Thomas Dare, like Tibby, was to find that that announcement in black and white seemed to settle everything, but not in the way that Tibby had predicted. To begin with, apparently all of his co-workers at the clinic had read it. When he arrived for duty that morning, he was besieged upon every side by congratulations, best wishes, slaps on the back and wide grins.

"When's the wedding to take place, old man?"
"Going to celebrate with champagne? Don't forget me, will you?"
"Say, you've done right well by yourself—this Miss Winters' mother married Jerome Davenport, and that old bird has money and influence... when are we going to get to see the lucky girl, Dare?"

"He's the lucky one—if we get in this blamed war—with the way the Japs are acting up—never did trust those beggars—Tommy won't be among the first to have to go—not with a wife to support."

"They say she's a beauty, how did YOU ever manage..."
And so on and so on until Tommy felt like blowing up. Only he could not. He could not tell them that it was just a put-up job, a frame-up—or was he the one framed? What if, as he had thought before, he could not get out of this entanglement? Had Tibby read it in the morning papers? If so, what was she thinking? Would he ever be able to make her understand—to heck with the rest of the world.

Tommy was to find it was easier to say that than to carry it out. Steena phoned him later in the day to inform him that she, too, had been in for her share of the consequences caused by that same announcement. She informed him that he had to go to dinner that night at the Jerome Davenports.

"Mother is wild," Steena said. "She insists I bring you in town immediately as she wants to see the young man I am going to marry. She wants my stepfather to look you over, too."

"But I'm not going to marry you," Tommy pointed out. Then he realized that someone might overhear that remark and think it strange. He added hastily, "At least not today. What's the big hurry?" He did not want to be looked over by Steena's stepfather. If her mother was wild, that was Steena's lookout, not Tommy's.

"Mother's like that," Steena explained. "Impatient and imperative. I'm afraid you'll have to go, Tommy."

He saw it was no use; he supposed he would have to, but he was not going to keep on having to do these things he did not want to do at all. Was he a man or a mouse?

He said, "How about Tibby? Did she read it too? Did she have anything to say?"

Steena said that Tibby had read it. She said that Tibby had expressed ly asked her to tell Tommy that she congratulated him.

Tommy groaned; he had had enough congratulations—too many. Besides, that did not sound as if Tibby meant to do something about it, as Steena had predicted. It did not sound good to him at all. He said as much to Steena in no uncertain terms. "That's fine," he said. "That's just dandy. Now where do we go from here?"

"We go to mother's for dinner at eight tonight," Steena had all the answers. "Call for me at seven-thirty. I may be a few minutes late as I'm doing some publicity today. But you be on time—mother is a stickler for punctuality. And of course it's find and dandy, Tommy. Tibby took it exactly the way I knew she would. She is terribly upset. She'll do something, if you just give her time."

Tommy hoped it would be the right thing. He could not see how it helped his cause to get Tibby upset, but Steena had hung up on him. Good Lord, he had not thought, when he got himself engaged, by proxy or however you wanted to think of it, to Steena that he would be getting himself engaged to her mother as well. He had always heard you did not just marry the girl—you had to take on a mother-in-law into the bargain. He had forgotten, as apparently Steena had too, that she had a family.

He would be on time tonight, however. Maybe he would have a chance to see Tibby, especially if Steena were delayed, as she had said she might be. Maybe he could say something to sort of fix things up with Tibby or drop a hint of some sort so she would not be so upset. At any rate, it would help just to see her.

That was what he THOUGHT—until he did. He got there on time, a good half hour ahead of time to be on the safe side. Steena had not come in yet, either. And Tibby was there. That certainly looked as if at long-last Tommy were playing in luck, except that it did not turn out that way.

Maybe if he had let well enough alone and had not tried to drop that hint or if Tibby had not started out by congratulating him again, so heartily that he was sure she was not the least bit upset, and if he had not noticed the ring she was wearing... But all those "ifs" and "maybes" were no use, not after what did take place between Tibby and Tommy, not when he found that she had done something, but not the right thing. The campaign was ended all right, but it was not the right ending.

"I want to congratulate you, Tommy," Tibby said, the moment she saw him. She added, "certainly hope that you will be most awfully happy." She smiled brightly, hopefully, as if she meant she hoped just that, as if she did not gratulate him and thought it was just fine that he had gone and got himself engaged to someone else when what he wanted was to be engaged to her.

He said, "Thanks—but well, all is not gold that glitters—remember?" That was a silly remark, but he remembered her having said that to him, the first time he had seen Steena, wearing her gold dress. Tibby had said it to remind Tommy that Steena might look beautiful, but that she might be dangerous. Tommy had learned that to his own sorrow.

"I don't know just what you mean," Tibby returned, still wearing that bright, fixed smile. "Steena is late. Won't you just sit on the sofa and read a magazine or something. I'll have to ask to be excused as I have to dress. I am going out this evening, too."

Tommy did not want to read a magazine. So Tibby was going out, too, was she? He did not want that, either. He said, "Can't you talk a second or so? You've got oodles of time. You look very nice, just as you are." She did look nice; she was wearing a new dress, very simple but very swank. It was one she had bought that afternoon, although Tommy did not know that. It should have looked simple and swank, because that was why she had bought it. He said, trying to drop another hint, since the first had fallen short, "You know, I am engaged to be married, too." Carelessly, casually she spoke, as if she were not dropping a bomb.

That was how Tommy took it. "You're not," he fairly exploded. "I most certainly am," Tibby extended one hand. It bore an enormous ring, a pearl surrounded by sapphires. It was conclusive proof, as authentic as any newspaper announcement.

Tommy stared at it as if he had been knocked senseless. He practically had, for this was not the way things were supposed to work out. It was the way, however, he had been afraid they might.

"Aren't you going to wish ME happiness?" Tibby demanded. "But you can't marry someone else," Tommy said.

"But I am," Tibby said. "I was engaged to Wayne before you got engaged to Steena, but maybe you won't believe that."

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

Uncle Sam couldn't ask for more efficient aid than he's getting from the Germans toward solidifying Latin American sentiment on his side against the Axis.

Mexico's been sympathetically pro-Yankee all along but a few U-boats sinkings of Mexican ships were needed to start President Avila Camacho definitely on the warpath. The Germans furnished 'em and then rubbed that in by making a sassy reply to Avila Camacho's protest and demand for indemnity.

Uncle Samuel himself is en-bey being officially darned nice titled to credit for pleasing Peru being officially darned nice to the President Prado on his recent visit to the United States. Still, a share of the credit's due to Germans in a couple of the republic's southern provinces. They're thick down there—not sufficiently numerous to be dangerous but enough so to be something of a worry to the decidedly anti-German northern states. They're rambunctious, too, which is just the thing to anti-Germanize the northern states all the more so.

Between appreciation of Yankee niceness to him and fretfulness over the meanness of southern German-Peruvians, President Prado's started on a tour of Latin American capitals, preaching Pan-Americanism. They don't all require his missionary work but every little bit counts.

Plot Against Chile
Now our German friends have started in on Chile. This is a real boost. Chile was one of the two Latin Americas (Argentina was the other) that failed to join in the otherwise general Pan-American lineup, not necessarily belligerent but at least diplomatic, at the beginning of the war. I don't think the Chileans were hostile to the scheme, but probably they were middling apprehensive of Japan. Their coast (and they're mostly coast) is within as easy airplane distance from Nippon as Pacific longitudes allow. Furthermore, they've a formidable local Jap population. Finally, they've got a lot of vulnerable industries, such as mines, with which air raids—and they're not well equipped to resist 'em—would raise Cain.

Juan Rios, recently inaugurated Chilean president, reputedly is anti-Axis, but he may be a trifle scared.

However, a German bomb plot has just been uncovered at Sant-ago, the Chilean capital. The idea was to blow up the late making a Pan-American speech President Allessandri, as he was not long ago. For some reason or other, it fizzled, but accounts or it aren't calculated to make a hit with "Chilenos."

Argentina's a kind of a problem. It isn't pro-German. Its German population, when obstreperous, is sat on HARD. I've seen 'em chased to their holes on the run, during the last war.

The heck of it is that that republic produces exactly the same agricultural stuff that we produce. And, aside from agricultural stuff, they don't produce anything that we want. Oh, yes, I'll make one exception. They do produce quebracho extract, a juice from trees, essential to leather tanning. They've got a virtual monopoly of it, but it doesn't amount to much, all told.

In short, about the only Latin American republic that needs to be converted is Argentina.

How About a Loan?
That ought to be manageable, with a loan of a billion dollars or two.

It isn't alone the immediate situation, either. We're getting the Americas consolidated in a fashion that'll go on forever, if we've got a lick of sense.

My gosh! Regardless of all his other good qualities, I still, as a long-time resident of one of the southern republics, dislike Woodrow Wilson, for his undiplomatic handling of 'em—not exactly undiplomatic, but ignorant.

Our present bunch has the right dope.

President Roosevelt has the "palaver." Cordell Hull has the philosophy. Henry Wallace has the language—which includes palaver.

F. D. R.'s even minus the language, is in first place, but Henry's is good.

Cordell's conversation is greatly supplemented by that of State Undersecretary Sumner Welles, who's lived down there, and knows the lingo practically, as well as grammatically, like Henry Wallace.

It's a good combination, anyway. But the Germans are the ones who've helped it most.

the way, as well as goods for country and small-town stores.

The council hopes, Long said, to trim mileage 35 percent in addition to hauling a far greater amount of merchandise and farm products.

Farmers entering the council would operate on the "swap load" plan—hauling for the neighbor in return for a similar favor—or would be paid for the merchandise they carried.

The program must be approved by ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman and will be directed by local committees set up in every county.

Organizations participating include the Ohio Farm Bureau, the Ohio State Grange, the Ohio Wool Growers' Association, the Producers Cooperative Commission Association, and organizations of dairy farmers, fruit and vegetable growers, grain dealers, livestock firms and producers and farm equipment and supply companies.

ASSASSINATIONS FEARED
DISARMED IN PRESENCE

General Beck, chief of the German General Staff, became "ill" just before the outbreak of the present war. He opposed Hitler's policy of frightfulness.

To estimate the relation between Hitler and generals correctly, one must remember the tradition in which the men in the fifties and sixties who now hold the responsible army positions grew up. They are leftovers from the imperial regime. The German emperor and his family were soldiers from early childhood on. During the present war, grandsons of the late Kaiser Wilhelm II were killed in action.

They rose successively to high military ranks. They were accepted not only as equals but, by virtue of the strong monarchical tradition ingrained in every German officer, as superiors.

Adolf Hitler to them will ever remain the World War corporal. True to their oath as soldiers they obey Der Fuehrer as the commander-in-chief of all the nation's military forces. But they often wince at his decisions and, when strictly among themselves, criticize both his strategic plans and their moral implications.

Take the keynote speech which Adolf Hitler delivered to the assembled military top leaders in his Berchtesgaden Mountain retreat a few days before the invasion of Poland began. It caused no end of shaking of heads and whispers of dismay.

One officer sitting in the rear of the large room where the officers' corps was assembled scribbled the text of this brief but blood-curdling address in shorthand on the cuff of his shirt. Some day he expects to be able to publish that text.

In it, Hitler puts himself on record as favoring the total war front in which women and children can be as little exempted as can civilian populations generally if caught between sections of the retreating army. He stated bluntly that he didn't mind being called Ghengis Khan or Attila the Hun; history recorded these names as those of great doers. He urged the generals to be tough.

The Polish campaign proceeded with a fierceness and brutality unequalled hitherto, but Hitler was not satisfied. He wanted the soldiers and their officers not only to fight battles but also to make short shift of the Polish population.

The Army balked at this. So Hitler sent his uncompromising SS men to Poland to "clean up." They did—and countless are the stories told me by German officers themselves of acts of inhumanity committed by the Black Guards.

General Von Blaskowitz, on behalf of the Army, protested against these methods. He has been in disgrace ever since.

The brutality of the SS in Poland is not the only objection which the regular army has against this special formation of Hitler bodyguards. The regular forces resent the preferred publicity given the exploits of the SS in the daily communiques; and they resent the "break" given the SS always to be in the final skirmish of a decisive strategic movement.

Another point of friction between Hitler and the old-line generals has been the Nazi fight on the church. The old Prussian officer was used to going to church on Sundays and seeing army chaplains about him on the battle field.

On December 23, 1940, I attended a Christmas celebration in the Berlin Garrison. The colonel in charge had the soldiers sing all the traditional Christian Christmas songs like "Stille Nacht" and "Adeste Fideles."

To my somewhat surprised comment that this was rather unusual, he said:

"I'm not going to let anybody interfere with our celebrating Christmas in the good old Christian way. Others may decide to revive old pagan German customs for Yuletide; so long as I head this garrison it's a Christian Christmas for us—and I think the soldiers prefer it."

I, for one, certainly saw and heard them singing with deep emotion and reverence.

One hears again and again that the Generals' Corps is fed up and ready to throw the entire Nazi outfit out.

Such rumors, I believe, are too much the result of wishful thinking. For, however much a general may disagree with Der Fuehrer, he remembers his oath of allegiance. And he also remembers that in Imperial Germany and later in the short-lived republic too, it was part of the creed of an officer that he must never become mixed up in politics. To remove the Nazis would be a political act of the first magnitude.

Therefore, a generals' revolution, for the present at least, represents a myth and should be discounted as such.

The regular forces resent the preferred publicity given the exploits of the SS in the daily communiques; and they resent the "break" given the SS always to be in the final skirmish of a decisive strategic movement.

Another point of friction between Hitler and the old-line generals has been the Nazi fight on the church. The old Prussian officer was used to going to church on Sundays and seeing army chaplains about him on the battle field.

On December 23, 1940, I attended a Christmas celebration in the Berlin Garrison. The colonel in charge had the soldiers sing all the traditional Christian Christmas songs like "Stille Nacht" and "Adeste Fideles."

To my somewhat surprised comment that this was rather unusual, he said:

"I'm not going to let anybody interfere with our celebrating Christmas in the good old Christian way. Others may decide to revive old pagan German customs for Yuletide; so long as I head this garrison it's a Christian Christmas for us—and I think the soldiers prefer it."

I, for one, certainly saw and heard them singing with deep emotion and reverence.

One hears again and again that the Generals' Corps is fed up and ready to throw the entire Nazi outfit out.

Such rumors, I believe, are too much the result of wishful thinking. For, however much a general may disagree with Der Fuehrer, he remembers his oath of allegiance. And he also remembers that in Imperial Germany and later in the short-lived republic too, it was part of the creed of an officer that he must never become mixed up in politics. To remove the Nazis would be a political act of the first magnitude.

Therefore, a generals' revolution, for the present at least, represents a myth and should be discounted as such.

sons who might be contacted to create strikes."

But he had no intention of doing any of these things, Dr. Gros said, and sent only newspaper clippings about strikes, unemployment, and airplane production, information such as would be available through German newspapers and magazines.

Dr. Gros, his wife, Frances, 31, and Albrecht Rudolf Curt Reuter, 56, German-born Beverly Hills art dealer, are charged with failure to register as German agents and conspiring to transmit to Germany information concerning national defense preparations.

Mrs. Gros said in a purported statement read in court that before they were married, Dr. Gros told her she could earn $200 a month for one to five hours' work a week clipping articles about U. S. military and naval affairs, airplane production, ship sailings and compiling lists of key defense positions in California.

"Helmut asked me to become a German agent," a quotation from her diary read. "I did not accept."

The statement said she threatened to tell the FBI of her husband's activities, and Dr. Gros told her the Gestapo had agents "all over the United States" and harm would come to her if she exposed him.

She said Dr. Gros told her he not only had aided the Nazis in obtaining control of Germany, but once had posed as a French military officer to carry money to German spies in Paris, posed as a priest on a similar mission in Poland, and was dropped by parachute to deliver a message to Nazi agents there.

"I have every right to be a spy," she quoted him.

immediate objectives by the use of air power alone was entirely feasible. Mainly, these were:

1. Some relief of pressure on the Russian front by diverting Luftwaffe strength.

2. Destruction of industrial centers, making it increasingly difficult for the Nazis to replace front line war machines.

Beyond these objectives, theories as to how to conquer Germany are split between those who claim that American and British air power can do the whole job and the more traditional strategists who see it as an undertaking for cooperating air and ground forces.

The airmen argue that if the job is left to them the ground forces need move in against little more than nominal resistance. This weakening of the enemy, they say, can be achieved by strategic bombing which they describe as an entirely new method of attack that Germans only approached in their assault on England in the fall and winter of 1940-41.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill's calm unfolding of plans to intensify these attacks in the months ahead give a clue as to how many thousands of planes the British have in reserve.

Still to be heard from are American air forces being concentrated in Britain. Several explanations were suggested as to why they have not made their appearance in action so far.

First of these was that the British, with many a score to settle, must have wanted to show both their own people and the Germans what they could do—to give the Nazis a strong dose of their own medicine. Another was that the high command may be building up the American force for some special mission.

will be expected of them, the compensation they will receive in return, plus meals, laundry, lodging and the like," he said.

Student farmer programs are being worked out locally in some areas and Studebaker's communication was designed to guide local efforts.

Placement of pupils on farms by the U. S. Employment Service should be approved by school authorities, he said, "since schools have both a legal and moral obligation for the youth enrolled in them."

Farmers seeking in-school youth as helpers were asked to file applications with the U. S. Employment Service in or near their communities.

"Sufficient information should be filed to give both you and their parents a rather definite picture of the farmer and his farm—the environment in which the youth will work and live," the education office said.

Studebaker emphasized that arrangements must be made by which young people may make up scholastic work which they miss while doing emergency farm work.

CHICAGO, June 3.—(P)— The recent grain price decline to low levels of the year was halted today, although the market remained unsettled.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The giant four-motored Navy Patrol Bombers are the world's most powerful planes. They cost approximately $700,000 each. The Navy also has a lighter Bomber called the Scout Bomber which costs about $143,000 apiece.

The battle for Britain was almost lost because England had none of these giant four-motored planes with which to fight back. We need thousands of them and they are coming off the assembly lines in our production plants at a high rate of speed today. You can help buy these for your Navy by purchasing War Bonds and Stamps every pay day. Put at least ten percent into Bonds or Stamps and help your country go over its quota.

HOSPITAL PLAN IS DISCUSSED BY ROTARY CLUB

Three New Members Given Charge at Tuesday Luncheon Meeting

A discussion of the "Central Hospital Service," a community hospitalization plan offered to employees in groups of five persons or more and other organized groups such as farm organizations, was the feature of the Rotary Club program at its Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club.

Ten boy Scouts representing the Rotarian Boy Scout Troop were club guests at the luncheon with each boy being introduced by Thomas Buchanan, assistant scout master, Harold Layman, field executive for the Boy Scout organization in this area, spoke briefly in glowing terms of what the Rotarian Boy Scout troop has accomplished and paid special compliment to Homer Davis, scoutmaster and Buchanan, his assistant, for what they had been doing to keep the organization alert and active.

Lieut. Ted Ottinger, home on a brief leave from the U. S. Air Corps, while about to be transferred from Miami, Fla., to Rome, N. Y., was a guest at the club meeting and spoke briefly of the duties to which he had been assigned.

Attorney Ray Maddox gave the Rotary charge to three new Rotarians at this meeting. The new members who were welcomed into the organization are L. M. "Pete" Hays, Paul Fitzwater and Harold Layman.

Ralph W. Jordan, director and C. B. Yardley, field representative of Central Hospital Service, with headquarters in Columbus, were speaker-guests on the program to discuss the hospitalization plan. As part of their presentation of the topic they showed the educational motion picture film "The Common Defense." The picture, released by the American Hospital Association, deals with the non-profit community hospital service plans and shows what the plan means to an average American family.

The Central Hospital Service, which takes care of the Central Ohio area including Fayette County, is one of 71 community associations owned by the hospitals and serving over 10,000,000 Americans.

It is approved by the American Hospital Association, the Ohio Hospital Association and is under the supervision of the Insurance Department of Ohio.

The hospitals participating and cooperating in the Central Hospital Service Plan comprise all ten Columbus hospitals, also hospitals in Athens, Bellefontaine, Bucyrus, Circleville, Crestline, Delaware, Galion, Gallipolis, Ironton, Logan, Mt. Vernon and Zanesville.

It is expected that opportunity for enrollment in the plan will be presented to the people of Washington C. H. and Fayette County in the near future.

WAYNE WONDER WORKERS BEGIN SEWING ON DRESSES

When the Wayne Wonder Workers held their second meeting at the home of Betty Ann Braden, they were given demonstrations by different members of the club on seams and also cut out dresses.

Helen Surface demonstrated the plain seam with stitched edges, Ruth Moon, the flat felled seam, the French seam by Winifred Hoppes, the standing felled seam by Betty Ann Braden and the bound button hole by Helen Jones. Other demonstrations were assigned for the next meeting to be held Friday, June 5, at the home of Helen Jones.

After seeing the demonstrations, the members cut out dresses and basted the pieces together. They also tasted food brought by the nutrition members.

SIMPLICITY IS KEYNOTE OF NEW SHOE STYLES

BOSTON, June 3.—(AP)—The trend in shoes this year is toward simpler styles—attributed by shoe manufacturers to priorities on materials for metal bows, buckles and nail heads often used as decorations.

Maxwell Field, managing director of the Boston show, said, however, that leather supplies were ample to produce shoes for civilian needs this year.

AMENDMENTS MADE TO EXPLOSIVE ACT

An amendment to the federal explosives act which takes fireworks out of the category of explosives, has been received by Clerk of Courts, Mrs. Olive Icenhower.

However, the amendments are of little importance in Ohio inasmuch as the sale of fireworks is now prohibited by a state law which became effective last summer.
